Portfolio managers commentary

This month saw worst 'rout' in equity markets since October 2008. On the 'Blame Radar' were the usual suspects: trade barriers, European 'weak links' (Italy and Brexit), interest rate increases, as well as emerging market indebtedness in US Dollars.

Unlike 2008, Central Banks are now fully implicated in the international financial framework. It is mostly through their actions we have experienced the past build up in asset prices as well as the present-day correction. Today's volatile environment is unlikely to be allowed to deteriorate to any significant extent without them considering intervening once again. After all, it has been their objective to stabilize dysfunctional markets since 2008. Recent comments by the PBOC of China and the ECB in Europe confirm no fundamental change on their part in the support of their local markets.

This month's climate of uncertainty for investors weighed negatively on all asset classes including the subordinated investment space. ASG has pursued its reallocation strategy, by redeploying the proceeds of maturing bonds onto new assets with higher yield levels. We expect 'yield hungry' investors to return to the subordinated investment space for the relative high yield these instruments provide (currently between 6% and 8% per annum), once market volatility settles down.

Investment strategy

The fund's objective is to achieve Income and long-term capital gains through a strategic allocation of its assets in a global diversified income-generating portfolio. The fund invests in Senior Bonds, Junior and Senior Subordinated Debts, Hybrids, Preferred Securities and Contingent Convertible Bonds.

Through our dynamic and action investment approach, ASG strategically invests in investment companies with strong balance sheets and sustainable earnings patterns that we believe they will reach a performance over and above an equivalent static portfolio.

In addition, the investment advisor uses a flexible allocation method to achieve consistent risk adjusted returns.

Currency Hedging may be employed to protect against foreign exchange risk.
