Portfolio managers commentary

February confirmed the strong performance of the ASG Fund realized in the previous month.

On the geopolitical front, the possibility of a trade deal between the United States of America and China edged a few steps forward. As for the United Kingdom and the European Union, time is steadily running out for a Brexit deal. This situation is now pointing the way to a possible extension of the March deadline. In the circumstances, an extension scenario would be the least complicated for both sides to manage, over the short term.

World Central Banks continued with their monetary accommodation policies. These actions are providing significant support to financial asset prices. In Europe, the European Central Bank (ECB) announced a new TLTRO (Targeted Long Term Refinancing Operation) to ensure ample liquidity for the Eurozone banking sector. In the past, these liquidity injections have tended to filter through onto financial markets rather than into the 'real' economy.

As certain uncertainties persist and as monetary interventions continue, ASG remains focused on its strategy of seeking out investment opportunities providing attractive carried yield or performance potential. Ideally both.

Investment strategy

The fund's objective is to achieve Income and long-term capital gains through a strategic allocation of its assets in a global diversified income-generating portfolio. The fund invests in Senior Bonds, Junior and Senior Subordinated Debts, Hybrids, Preferred Securities and Contingent Convertible Bonds.

Through our dynamic and action investment approach, ASG strategically invests in investment companies with strong balance sheets and sustainable earnings patterns that we believe they will reach a performance over and above an equivalent static portfolio.

In addition, the investment advisor uses a flexible allocation method to achieve consistent risk adjusted returns.

Currency Hedging may be employed to protect against foreign exchange risk.
